LETTERS of Recommendation

Note from advertiser

Judith:

My personal web page positioning is very high for my region, but I receive more inquiries and hits regarding high-end brides from WeddingLinks.com than any other links I have out there. After eleven years I continue to book more clients from your website visibility. Please tell your prospective advertisers to call me if they want a recommendation..

E-mail from happy web user.

Good afternoon Judith –

I hope this email finds you well. My wife and I were recently married at Meadowood in Napa Valley (<http://www.meadowood.com/>) and it was definitely the most wonderful day we've ever experienced! The wedding was beautiful and since we'd used your site to help us put together the plans, research information and make our day as beautiful as it could be we decided to share some pictures with you!

We're not sure if you ever use outside wedding photos on your site to show people how beautiful a northern California wedding can be, but maybe some of ours could be considered? Our photographer was a gentleman named Daniel Lunghi and his photos were amazing (<http://www.lunghi.com/>). We would love to help him gather more business in Northern California as we truly feel he did an incredible job!

We've attached a few pictures here for you to see. If there is any interest at all in using some or seeing more, please let us know and we can follow up with you and Daniel, our photographer!

Thanks so much for the help from your site!!

Sincerely – Cory and Gretchen Treffiletti, San Francisco

Brides' Blog note

It was so refreshing to not sign in to use your website. I began my search on weddinglinks by looking for a wedding dress in my area and everything I had to think of for the wedding came up on one page. There were so many links in most of the wedding categories. Awesome Site! sweetthing@earthlink.net

E-mail from print advertiser:

*Dear Judith,
We love giving your 2008 magazine to brides with our advertising in it. Beautiful Weddings & Events gives such credibility to our business. People often arrive at our location with the publication in hand. Thank you for the business you have brought us over the past nine years. I recently took your on-line wedding planning class so I could advise our brides on their wedding planning. What a gift you are giving to the wedding industry. It helped me in many gray areas I had with brides, but I can imagine how it could especially help a bride who did not know where to begin.*

We are very excited about your global expansion with WeddingLinks.com. Being a favorite destination area, we are certain it will bring us even more of those wonderful destination brides. We will miss your print publication though. I know it is where the brides are, but I personally love print. Thank you for all you do,

Belinda and Joe Walker, Walker Ranch, Sept 2008

Stomach in a knot over wedding plans? Forget the knot and surf this site! Guys, if you want to score points with your bride, refer her and the bridal groupies to this fabu site! Honeymoon contests and packages are available so you won't be meeting the altar with empty pockets. The site opens with a magnificent map so newbie users can click on the county where they want to take the plunge. Money matters? Family issues? Weddinglinks covers it all, from A (Articles on blended families, table manners, his/her side and wedding protocol) to Z (Zephyr cove, Keeping the Zest in bed after the Honeymoon and wedding zingers). This isn't just another wedding book or site, it's number one in Google. Judith Rivers-More, CEO and owner of Weddinglinks.com and Beautiful Events.com has taken her time to update and "hip up" this site. She has intergrated new methods of wedding madness and offered them as options. You want water balloons thrown at you and your new mate after the ceremony? Weddinglinks has several balloon vendors.

A Priest and a Rabbi might be the start of some bad joke, but not in Weddinglinks. Clergy, Gurus, Temples and Alternative Lifestyle Ministers are listed. If you want to dine in Napa at a classy new winery, then take a balloon ride to your reception and honeymoon in Disneyland, Weddinglinks is the place to find out how. Pictures are worth a thousand words: While continuing through the site, you will view some of the most breathtaking pictures of weddings, in addition to who has taken them. One of the largest lists of Photographers are in this site. Bachelor and Bachelorette parties are several pages long, with reference sites to restaurants, hotels and hot spots who cater to the wild and soon to be wed. It doesn't matter how old you are, it's your inner age that counts and this site encourages re-affirmation of vows ceremonies with specified clergy and destinations. This site is onto the hot new trend: Destination weddings. Weddinglinks offers more than just a glimpse. It gives full photos and package deals, pricing, the best time of year to come and all the extras (like a DJ list). Flying Mom and the entrie extended family in from Rome? Weddinglinks has several travel vendors. Before tying the knot, save your dime on other bridal guides and other semi-informed magazines and check out this site. 2007

Letter from a Bride to Be

It is all I can do to find my way into some of these websites but weddinglinks.com is such a change from what is out there. Everyone says not to sign up on any website or at a trade show, so it was great to know there was no sign in to get to the locations and services. Took your Super Star Wedding class and it really gave a jumpstart to my planning efforts. Its so overwhelming and I've really been slow in getting this all going. Thanks tons, PS – We love the links to dating ideas.

Wanted to drop you a note and tell you what a help your web sites are in working with clients who are seeking all types of locations. I must go to your web sites several times a month, sometimes for fund raisers, anniversary parties and recently a business event with three different venues over a few days time. The many styles and budgets offered in your listings are a great help.

Keep up the good work. Alexa Weston

Just writing to tell you what a wonderful help you were to Jason and I as we planned all the details of our destination wedding. The people you recommended were wonderful to work with and the location was perfect - as was the weather. We could not believe the 80 degree temperatures. All the wedding services said it was unusually warm. I will tell my friends about your A-Vineyard services. P.S. My family loved the wine tour -- the limo driver was very knowledgeable about wine tasting.

Thank You , Maria and Jason Ralston
